

BJ Pasztor

Chief Operating Officer,
Acute Care Services/Chief Nursing Officer

Biography

BJ Pasztor has served as Blanchard Valley Health System's chief nursing officer since 2011 and also serves as chief operating officer of acute care services. She holds a bachelor of science in nursing degree from the University of Toledo, and received a masters of health services administration degree from the University of Michigan.

Prior to her role with BVHS, Pasztor's leadership roles included air medical services, trauma, EMS and emergency care. Pasztor was previously recognized with the national Program Director of the Year Award in Air Medical/Critical Care Transport Services, and has served in roles on boards and professional organizations for the state of Ohio, and nationally. She is a member of the Hancock Board of Health, where she is currently serving as president. Additionally, Pasztor has worked with the CASA program in Hancock County as a children's court appointed special advocate since 2018.

Pasztor is a member of the American Organization of Nurse Leaders, and is certified in Executive Nursing Practice. She is also a member of The American College of Healthcare Executives, as well as the Association of Cancer Executives.

