

MEET BVHS BOARD MEMBER

Roger Miller

Findlay native Roger Miller balances his time between practicing law and serving on organizations throughout the community. Roger lives in Findlay with his wife, Ann. They have a son and two granddaughters. He practices business law, estate planning and trust and probate at Eastman and Smith Attorneys at Law in Findlay. Roger has been a member of the Blanchard Valley Health Foundation (BVHF) board since 2007 and is vocal about his appreciation for the hospital and the remarkable care patients receive.

for 44 years and has received awards on behalf of his work in the field. He is an AV Preeminent rated lawyer, a significant rating accomplishment recognizing him at the highest level of professional excellence by his peers. Roger is a former president of the Findlay

Rotary Club and of the Findlay Hancock County Bar Association. He currently serves as the chair of the Hancock County Public Defender Commission and is president of the Findlay-Hancock County Public

“Without the successful past and current leadership, I do not think we would have made these advances in such a short amount of time.”

Roger received his bachelor’s degree from Miami University in 1967. After completing his undergraduate studies, Roger served in the U.S. Army in Military Intelligence for three years. He then went on to earn his law degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1973. Roger has practiced law Library Board of Trustees. Roger sits on the executive committee and serves as secretary of the BVHF board. When not busy attending to the needs of his community, Roger enjoys leisurely bicycle rides, taking walks, working in the yard and playing golf.

“The health foundation is responsible for developing approaches to fundraising and deciding on the disbursement of funds,” he explained. He describes his time on the board as enjoyable and rewarding because he gets to see the board’s work applied to the success of the hospital. He says he loves experiencing the generosity from people who help fulfill the needs of the medical community.

According to Roger, the continued growth in technology adds to the depth of the medical experience. “Without the successful past and current leadership, I do not think we would have made these advances in such a short amount of time,” he said. He expressed his hope for the health foundation to maintain its successful track by continuing to accept and embrace new technology and developments that will further enhance the health system.
